Researcher with a strong economic background, focused in environmental policy and resource management

Education

University of Wyoming

Aug. 2021 – Present

Doctor of Philosophy in Economics

Advisors: Todd L. Cherry, Ph.D., Linda Thunström, Ph.D.

University of Wyoming

Aug. 2021 – Oct. 2023

Master of Science in Economics

Thesis: Using Stated- and Revealed-Preference Modeling to Estimate Demand for Species-Specific Recreation in Grand Teton National Park

Advisors: Todd L. Cherry, Ph.D., Linda Thunström, Ph.D.

University of Utah

Aug. 2016 – Dec. 2020

Bachelor of Science in Economics, Minor in Political Science

Research and Technical Experience

Ph.D. Researcher

Aug. 2021 – Present

University of Wyoming, Dept. of Economics

Current research activities:

- Analysis of public and manager preferences for the allocation of wildfire management funds between suppression and risk mitigation activities, using a national survey experiment and econometric techniques
- Use of a national survey experiment, funded by the National Science Foundation, to investigate how exposure to wildfire and wildfire prevention activity affects preferences for individual and collective wildfire risk reduction investments
- Analysis of how informational frames influence public attitudes and political support for climate policies, using a national randomized controlled trial

Graduate Fellow

Jun. 2025 – Aug. 2025

Property and Environment Research Center (PERC)

- Analysis of the public's perceived effectiveness of wildfire prevention activities, using NSF-funded national survey data and geospatial analysis

Undergraduate Researcher

Jan. 2020 – Aug. 2021

University of Utah, Sorenson Impact Center

- Conducted in-depth analyses of market solutions aimed at minimizing the existing capital gap between financial institutions and marginalized communities

Publications

* Indicates authors contributed equally

Technical Skills

- R, STATA, & MATLAB (Highly proficient)
Focus areas: Statistical modeling, econometric analysis and panel data techniques, economic optimization, and simulation modeling.
- ERDAS Imagine (Moderately proficient)
Focus areas: Remote sensing data analysis, image processing, and spatial analysis, with a focus on land use/land cover classification, change detection, and environmental monitoring.
